MATCH PREVIEW

David Wright previews tonight's match against South Melbourne.

The tale couldn't have been scripted better. The Cosmos star is on the rise. The biggest star of all celebrating a personal milestone of 300 national league games and the opposition? The team that decided that they could do without "Captain Socceroo"!

South Melbourne have had an erratic start to the season - a very poor one by their standards - but recent performances suggest that Frank Arok's team have turned the corner. Certainly, they will provide more formidable opposition than they did in the first encounter when Cosmos squandered an early two goal advantage on their first visit to Melbourne. By the same token, the home side are brimming with confidence after wins against Melbourne Knights and Morwell Falcons and a creditable draw against Adelaide City in recent outings.

Much has been written about Arok's clean out during the off-season when Jason Polak went to Brisbane Strikers, Francis Awaratife went to Marconi and Cosmos snared Paul Wade's signature. The transfer ledger has not been without its positive side. Much travelled Socceroo Alan Davidson has found his way back to the club after an impressive career at Nottingham Forest and in Asia..

Twice Champions and ten time finalists, South Melbourne will be anxious to put their poor start behind them and continue their proud tradition. The players who will form the nucleus of the side will be goalkeeper Dean Anastasiadis, defenders, Con Anthopoulos, Alex Kuzmanovic and recent acquisition Alan Davidson, midfielders, Mickey Petersen, Steve Panopoulos and Paul Trimboli, while up front the Blues will have Vaughan Coveney, Ivan Kelic and Agim Sherifovski. Players to watch are Socceros Mickey Petersen and local idol Paul Trimboli. Their contest with former team mate Paul Wade is likely to be a highlight of this intriguing contest.

Cosmos are in sparkling form. South Melbourne are clawing their way back. Souths may find the more solid defensive five harder to penetrate now that John Koch is there to organise them and Jason Dunn and Toplica Popovich have blended so well in the centre of the defence. The game, I suspect, will be decided at the other end where Cosmos have Michael Musitano in such splendid form and Paul Dee and Lachlan Armstrong splitting defences with their quick breaks from deep in their own territory.

I fancy Cosmos to win because of their growing conviction that they are as good as, if not better than, anybody in the national league. Let's hope that South Melbourne's magnanimous "Gift to the Nation's Capital", Paul Wade, will be able to celebrate his 300th game in style with an emphatic win. Whatever the outcome, I am sure we are all in for a spirited contest.

Profile a star - Paul Wade

Barring injury tonight, Paul Wade will play his 300th national league game for the Cosmos against his old club, South Melbourne. I have taken the opportunity to look at some of Paul's achievements over the past eleven years.

Paul Wade was born in Altrincham, near Manchester, on 29th March 1963. His early years were spent in England where he learned some of the trade that is now his profession, but it wasn't until moving to Melbourne as an eleven year old that he seriously began to consider a career in soccer.

Paul was first graded with the Croyden Soccer Club in 1981 in the Victorian Premier League as a 19 year old and really did not get his opportunity to play at the top level until he was signed for Green Gully in 1984. He played 28 games for the then fledgling National Soccer League club scoring four goals in his debut season.

The performance of Paul Wade attracted the attention of Brunswick Juventus (later to become Melbourne Zebras SC) for whom he was contracted for two seasons in 1985 and 1986 playing 49 games and scoring eleven goals. It was during this time that Paul won his first championship with the 1985 Brunswick Juventus team that included such notable players as Andrew Zinni and a young Micki Peterson.

In 1986 Paul also represented Australia for the first time against China, in a match played in Canberra. Paul has since gone on to represent Australia on 114 occasions. Of these matches 77 were A Internationals and most as captain. Paul is set to overtake Peter Wilson as the most capped Australian soccer player ever, having already played more A Internationals than any other Australian players. His international career has had many highs, but none better than the 1993 World Cup qualifiers against Argentina where he marked Diego Maradona recognised as one of the most talented players ever to play the round ball game.

Paul made the move to National Soccer League club South Melbourne in 1987 and immediately had some success. He played 24 games scoring 8 goals which to this day remains his highest ever season tally. Expectations are high amongst Cosmos fans that this year will be the year Paul Wade beats that long standing record.

In 1988 Paul Wade was recognised by the Soccer Media as the National Soccer League player of the year, sharing the award with current Brisbane Striker Frank Farina. A year later, Wade was part of the South Melbourne team that won the League Cup and following that, part of the South Melbourne team that defeated the Melbourne Knights, on penalties, in front of 23,318 fans to win the 1990/91 championship.

The last eighteen months have seen some tough times for the Aussie skipper. Criticised by many as too old and not good enough to be in the Australian team and shunned by the South Melbourne club with whom he played over 200 games, Wade has responded in the best way possible, on the field, representing the Canberra Cosmos.

1995/96 is shaping up as one of Paul Wade's best seasons. He has reaffirmed his status as one of the country's leading players, remains near the top of the Ericsson Cup goalscorers list and has for the moment silenced many of his critics. It is a great pleasure to be sharing this moment with Paul tonight and

I look forward to what I am sure will be a memorable evening.

Congratulations Paul Wade.

SOUTH MELBOURNE - A BRIEF HISTORY

Statistician, Andrew Howe takes a look at South Melbourne.

The year 1959 saw the amalgamation of three strong Melbourne clubs - Hellenic, Yarra Park and South Melbourne United. Of these clubs it appears that South Melbourne United was the longest established, formed in the early 1930s.

In its first year of competition (1960) South Melbourne Hellas won the Victorian 1st division north championship - dropping only one competition point in the process, and scoring 79 goals and conceding only 11. The club was not surprisingly promoted immediately to the Victorian state league first division, finishing fifth position in 1961. The following year Hellas won their first of seven Victorian state league titles between 1962 and 1976. Perhaps their most successful season in this period was 1966 when one of Greece's best ever players, Con Nestorides, joined Souths. 37 year old Nestorides' immediate impact upon joining the club was to double the crowds and secure the 1966 Victorian state league title.

In the year before formation of the national league, Souths, as Victorian champions, defeated NSW champions St George over two legs (3-2) to take out the unofficial Australian club championship series in 1976.

Despite big expectations, South Melbourne had a very mixed start to the national league. A low point in Souths' twenty year national league experience was 1979. After a positive start to the season, the club had three competition points deducted after it was deemed that import player Tony Turner had not been properly registered with Souths. Three coaches along with high profile Soccerroo players Jack Reilly, Jimmy Mackay and Jim Armstrong all left the club that year, which saw Souths finish the season last.

But it wasn't too long before South Melbourne won their first national championship. In 1984 - the first time a grand final had been used to decide the championship - Souths defeated Sydney Olympic 2-1 in both legs of the grand final. Souths finished all five seasons from their knock-out cup-winning year of 1990 until 1994 in the top three. In the midst of this extended halcyon period, a massive crowd of 23,318 gathered to watch probably the most enthralling national league grand final ever in May 1991. Here Souths defeated Melbourne Knights - albeit on penalties - after two hours of intensive on-field action. A recent move to the impressive Bob Jane stadium has injected new life into the club, after the 'failure' - by Souths' high standards - of the last couple of years. Willy and legendary former soccerroo coach Frank Arok will not be content with his stay at Souths until he secures the club an Ericsson A-League trophy very soon.

ACT ACADEMY OF SPORT

After a couple of disappointing losses to Blacktown and Sydney United, the Academy will be looking to getting back to winning ways against Parramatta Eagles today. Coach, Chris Tanzey, has been pleased to see the return of Alex Castro, after a long term injury. However, Alex' return to match fitness suffered a set-back following a red card against Sydney United. Hopefully it will not be long before Castro's exciting performances are causing Mike Lyons to consider where he can fit in to the Cosmos line up.

Blair Machin brilliantly saved a penalty against Sydney United, making it the second penalty Blair has saved this season, which means that no team has scored a penalty against the Academy. Interestingly we have also not scored a penalty - because we have not been awarded one in 13 games.

Chris Tanzey certainly made a success of his first 'International' coaching appointment. The National Women's coach, Tommy Sermanni, asked Chris to 'look after' one of the Australian Women's teams for the recent International challenge between Australia (Gold & Green), Korea and New Zealand. His team, Australia Green, did quite well - they won the Championship by beating New Zealand in the final. Look out Tommy, not to mention Eddie Thomson!

As if playing one of the most skilful teams in the country isn't enough, the visitors' changing room at Edensor Park must be the hottest and most humid in the country, and is a daunting prospect for teams about to play Sydney United. Lets hope the new dressing rooms being built under their splendid new stand include air conditioning for both teams.

ERICSSON  MOBILE PHONES

From The Grandstand

In this issue, Chris Kunz pays tribute to Paul Wade on the occasion of his 300th appearance in the national league.

I was enthusiastic about the possibility of Paul Wade being a Cosmos player when I wrote my 'Canberra Then and Now' article for the Australian fanzine 'Studs Up' back in July. My reasoning was that even if the old horse was heading for the glue pot (as so many were saying), there would at least be quite a few who would turn up just to bid the once champion (see Andrew Howe's statistics at the bottom of this page) a fond farewell.

Twelve weeks into the season and the supposed shuffler has broken into a gallop, terrorised many an A League show-pony and kicked dirt in the faces of his critics... but isn't that just typical of the man!

Just when everybody thought he would sink without trace, the man with the big 'green and gold heart' displayed the cliched Aussie 'fighting spirit' for all to see. Paul has always been admired for his workrate, commitment and courage, but never before had he scored a national league hat-trick, nor been a club's leading scorer at this stage of a season.

His football is the public face of Paul Wade, but I admire the other side even more. The dedicated family man, the non-smoker. It is unfortunate that so often, young people feel the need to be part of a group and are swayed by peer group pressure. It is a temptation only the strong and disciplined can resist. I reflected on this situation as I studied Paul during the bus trip to Marconi.

He sat alone - quietly, such a contrast to the urging and demonstrative figure we see on the field. When he spoke to me, he was articulate and his gaze didn't shift from mine. I felt then like offering him my life savings to look after - when he later turned down a suggestion from one of the other players that he have a punt of two - with the reply that he didn't have the money to throw around - I gave him a mental pat on the back and smiled at the thought that my original feeling would have been a good investment.

Paul, the last footballing chapter in 'The

Paul Wade Story' has yet to be written - we're just delighted that the Cosmos have provided the setting. We are all proud to have you as part of the extended Cosmos family. You are a champion as a footballer and a person, a role model to the young - and an inspiration to us all. Thank you and congratulations on your milestone. We will be cheering you on, past many more!
